SOLONS QUIZ H. L. HOPKINS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Harry L. Hopkins, former head of the Works Progress Administration, said today the Senate made "a great mistake" last year in rejecting a proposal to outlaw politics in relief.

Hopkins, testifying before the Senate commerce committee in defense of his nomination to be secretary of commerce, admitted that some WPA officials and employees in various states had engaged in political activity.

"Personally," he said, "I have no feeling of a sense of guilt. I did the best job I could."

Vote Wednesday

The hearing on Hopkins was concluded before noon and the Senate committee agreed to vote next Wednesday on his nomination.

Committee approval of his nomination was regarded as certain. After the committee acts, the nomination will be placed before the Senate for confirmation.

Another new cabinet member, Attorney General Frank Murphy, appears before a Senate committee later today to tell about his handling of sitdown strikes in Michigan.

Raps Pennsylvania

Hopkins named Pennsylvania specifically as a state where local political leaders "put the pressure on WPA forces."

Committee Chairman Joseph W. Bailey, D., N. C., asked for Hopkins' views on the amendment by Sen. Carl Hatch, D., N. M., defeated by the Senate by a narrow margin last session, which would have inflicted heavy penalties on persons found guilty.

MEGLADDERY STANDS PAT IN PARDON CASE

OAKLAND, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Superior Judge Mark Lee Megladdery apparently was remaining firm in his intention to avoid a process server today as a new version of the Clarence A. (Chick) Leddy pardon scandal cropped up. Dave Bush, Oakland member of the state board of prison terms and paroles, said information had been given him last December 21 which set the present attorney general's investigation of the case in motion.

Reveals Talk

Bush said he talked with Clarence Bent, missing San Francisco tavern keeper, and assertedly was told by him that Megladdery had discussed a pardon for Leddy at Bent's Ellis street establishment.

According to Bush, Bent said he met Megladdery while the latter was still one of former Governor Frank Merriam's secretaries and during the course of a conversation the question of money in connection with executive clemency for Leddy came up.

Bush said Bent "apparently was under no misapprehension about why the money actually was paid" in a deal whereby he is claimed to have turned over $500 to Megladdery and given $750 to Edwin Geary, Oakland attorney with whom Megladdery shared an office.

Megladdery, appointed to the Alameda superior court bench,

West Pronounces First Sentence

Superior Judge Franklin G. West today sent his first criminal to San Quentin.

Fred Redenbaugh, involved in a $25 hold-up of K. L. Michael at San Clemente last September, was tried on a charge of first-degree burglary by Judge West, without a jury, and found guilty last week.

Redenbaugh had been armed with a gun, so was ineligible for probation. His probation plea therefore was denied today and Judge West committed him for the term prescribed by law, not less than five years.

Redenbaugh will leave an un-kissed bride behind him. On the day he was convicted, he was thereafter taken to the marriage license bureau in manacles, and there obtained license to wed Gladys Pickard, Los Angeles telephone operator and divorcee. Redenbaugh gave his age as 23, his bride was 35.

SOLON RIDICULES ASSERTION RELIEF FUND CUT SLAP AT FDR

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(UP)—The house rebuffed President Roosevelt today on the first issue to come before it this session when it refused to increase the $725,000,000 W.P.A. appropriation bill to the $875,000,000 asked by the White House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum, D., Va., closed debate on the $725,000,000 relief bill—$150,000,000 less than asked by President Roosevelt—today by ridiculing charges that the House would be "taking a slap" at the President if it fails to vote the $875,000,000 he asked to continue W.P.A. to June 30.

Woodrum also denied the contention of administration supporters that the smaller appropriation would cause widespread suffering.

Hurl Charges

The administration group accused the appropriations committee of seeking to prevent a showdown on the $150,000,000 cut by a parliamentary device which prevents a roll call vote on proposals to restore the appropriation to the original figure asked by President Roosevelt.

Woodrum, declaring he sought to "brush away a few of the cobwebs," denied the "suggestion that unless a Democrat, in voting on an appropriation, votes for every penny of the budget estimate he's taking a slap at the future elections."

"IT SMELLS!" PLAINT CHARGES HOG RANCH PUBLIC NUISANCE

Owners of the L and N hog ranch of Talbert, target of official opposition since it was first established more than a year ago, today faced a new form of attack, criminal prosecution for maintaining a public nuisance.

A complaint filed in Huntington Beach justice court today by Max Hoepfner, neighbor of the hog ranch, charged that the feeding of garbage to approximately 7000 hogs kept at the ranch "creates offensive odors, smells and stenches" and emits large quantities of noxious, unwholesome, nauseating and offensive smells which "causes the community to become filled, polluted and contaminated" with the welcome odors.

Mooney, Bridges To Address Group

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 13.—

—Labor's Non-Partisan League will meet here tomorrow and Sunday to hear addresses by Thomas J. Mooney, west coast CIO leader Harry Bridges and other labor leaders and to work out a program to introduce in the state legislature.

Homes Affected

Homes of a considerable number of residents of the vicinity are so affected, according to the complaint, which was issued by Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner.

The ranch, as conducted, breeds and propagates flies, in addition to creating offensive smells, and constitutes a public nuisance, the complaint asserts. The offense constitutes a misdemeanor.

Named as defendants in the complaint were the L and N Feeding Company, President G. N. Lyons, Secretary Roy Nishi and Director T. Shigehawa.

Justice Chris P. Pann of Huntington Beach, issued arrest warrants based on the complaint and announced that they would be served on the hog ranch owners today.

VICTIM OF THUGS

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Clifford Weatherwax, 60, of Burlingame, Calif., who suffered a fractured skull when attacked by things 10 days ago, died in Mt. Sinai hospital today.

Weatherwax, police said, was attacked in the early morning of Jan. 3 by two unidentified men who took his watch and money. His doctor said the fracture was "very large—about four inches long."

Weatherwax and his wife were staying at the Ritz Carlton hotel. She was at the hospital when he died. Police said he was a graduate of Harvard university.

Oil Field Worker Suffers Injury

Coy Halbert, 32, 930 Atlantic avenue, Long Beach, is in St. Mary's hospital in Long Beach suffering from the effects of a broken leg, the result of an accident in the Huntington Beach oil fields this morning.

Halbert was working on a derrick for the Southwest Exploration company when a large piece of tubing fell, striking him on the hip. He was taken to the Ralph E. Hawes emergency hospital where it was ascertained that his leg was broken. He was later removed to the hospital in Long Beach.

CHAMBERLAIN VISITS POPE

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Neville Chamberlain, spokesman for the 500,000,000 people of the British Empire as premier of the mother country, conferred on world problems today with Venerable Pope Pius XI, spiritual father of the world's 332,000,000 Roman Catholics.

It was understood that the Pope encouraged Chamberlain to continue his efforts to safeguard peace and complimented him on his interest in the Jewish refugee problem and his efforts to obtain a cessation of the Spanish civil war. Chamberlain was understood to have told the Pope that he was satisfied with the results of his visit to Rome.

Third Visit

The visit came as diplomats throughout Europe were discussing anxiously the breakdown of diplomatic negotiations between Chamberlain and Premier Mussolini, whom he came here to see.

It was the third visit of a British prime minister to a Pope. The late Herbert Asquith visited Pope Benedict, March 31, 1916, during the world war. The late Ramsay McDonald visited the present Pope March 19, 1933.

This visit was fraught with particular importance because of the increasingly apparent failure of Chamberlain's policy of "appeasing" the European dictators, Mussolini and Adolf Hitler; because of the Holy Father's increasing anxiety at the religious and other policies of the dictators; and the known desire of the Pope and the British prime minister alike to go to the limit to safeguard the world's peace.

FRANCO ARMIES IN SMASHING VICTORY

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco's Catalan offensive troops, smashing a wide path toward the Mediterranean coast today, seized the city of Tortosa, closed in on Tarragona and tottered the outer defense of the Loyalist capital at Barcelona.

The rebel troops reported they had advanced in the Sierra Morena sector to within sight of the sea.

Drive Too Late

The insurgent drive, surging forward most rapidly in the south, appeared to have made the greatest gains since Franco launched his offensive just before Christmas. The triumphs were too late, however, to affect the British Italian talks at Rome where hope had been expressed that Premier Benito Mussolini might persuade Britain and France to aid the Rebels by granting them belligerent rights of naval blockade.

2 CONVICTS ARE WOUNDED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—(UP)—Five convicts, including Arthur Barker, member of the notorious Karpis-Barker gang of outlaws, made a desperate attempt to escape from Alcatraz rock today but were captured after guards opened fire, wounding two of them. Barker was one of the wounded.

Warden James A. Johnston identified the five as:

Arthur Barker, serving life for kidnaping;

Dale Stampfill, serving life for kidnaping;

Rufus McCain, 99 years for national bank robbery and kidnaping;

Henri Young, 20 years for robbing a national bank, and William Martin, Negro, 25 years for armed robbery of a post office.

Warden Johnston said Barker and Stampfill were shot. Barker was hit in the left leg and head. Stampfill was struck in both legs. Their condition reportedly was serious.

U. S. FLEET MASSES FOR WAR MANEUVERS

BALBOA, C. Z., Jan. 13.—(UP)—The United States fleet today began passing through the Panama canal from the Pacific headed for the Caribbean Sea for the greatest concentration of fighting sea strength in the nation's history.

The stern warning from the chief spokesman for the European democracies was given to the Fascist premier—and indirectly to Nazi Fuhrer Adolf Hitler—in connection with a further statement that Britain would stand solidly behind France in event of war with Italy.

LED BY THE AIRCRAFT CARRIER Lexington, 89 units of the Pacific fleet began the transit of the canal at 4:50 a.m.

The scene was one of impressive martial might as the parade started. Troops strictly guarded the locks and strategic areas of the ditch, permitting no one to approach. Airplanes soared overhead in the bright sunshine.

Commerce Sidetracked

Panama and Balboa harbor was crowded with bustling war craft, awaiting their turn. No commercial traffic will be permitted in the canal until the entire fleet is through.

Romance, Tyranny In New Picture

A stormy romance that flows in the shadow of a man's tyranny is depicted in striking fashion in "Pacific Liner" which ends tonight at the Broadway theater in conjunction with "Sharpshooters," 20th Century's Fox new series of camera daredevil exploits. Victor McLaglen and Chester Morris are co-starred in "Pacific Liner" and supported by Wendy Barrie, Barry Fitzgerald and Alan Hale.

In "Sharpshooters," Brian Donlevy and Wally Vernon are cast as two intrepid newsreel photographers who risk their lives for the thrill of it. The adventures of these two are woven into a story that embodies all the essential elements of fast action, suspense, comedy and romance. Lynn Bari is featured.

Popeye cartoon, "Cops Is Always Right," and newreel, round out this very interesting program.

RIVER YIELDS DIAMONDS

MARYSVILLE, Cal. (UP)—During the past 30 years more than 200 diamonds of various sizes have been found in the sands of the Yuba river east of here. Although at one time extensive efforts to mine diamonds were made, it was never possible to find the source of the stones. They are still picked up occasionally—one diamond amid millions of yards of sand and gravel.

BATTLE OF PASSERS
DUE IN PRO BATTLE

LOS ANGELES.—The greatest passing duel ever witnessed in football is scheduled to be on tap Sunday when Ed Danowski of the New York Giants opposes Slingin' Sammy Baugh and Cecil Isbell of the All Americans in the Pro Bowl Game at Wrigley Field.

During the five years he has been playing in the backfield for the New York Giants, Danowski has performed the remarkable feat of having 54 per cent of his passes completed. Baugh's mark with the Washington Redskins the past year was 49 per cent but he set a record in '37.

Isbell is known not only for his passing but also because of his great ground-gaining ability. He was one of the leading ground gainers in the National League this past season so Coaches Ray Flaherty and Elmer Henderson are counting on some stellar work from him in the coming battle.

The Bulldogs have been working out twice a day to get their running plays working smoothly. Steve Owen, coach of the world's champion New York Giants, has been sending his men through their workouts at the Riviera Country Club and is well satisfied with the progress of the team.

Tickets for the game have been placed on sale at Silverwoods and other agencies. Nearly 10,000 extra seats have been installed

Concluding sermon in the Week of Prayer, sponsored annually by the Santa Ana Ministerial Union, will be given by Bishop William C. Martin of Glendale, at 7:30 p.m. today at the First Christian church. The Rev. Gerald S. F. Bash, pastor of the First Christian church, will be chairman of the evening and will introduce P. S. Bogart, minister of music of the First Methodist church, who will be in charge of music for the occasion. A vocal trio, composed of Mrs. Harry Hayes, Mrs. Blanche Owens and Mrs. Thurza Snow, accompanied by Miss Lenora Tompkins will give special music for the occasion. Reverend Harry W. OSTEOPATHIC GROUP NAMES COMMITTEES

Appointment of committees and an address on "Early Diagnosis of Heart Disease" by Dr. Louis Chandler, of Los Angeles, last night occupied the attention of the monthly meeting of the Orange County Osteopathic association at the Elk's club rooms in Anaheim. Dr. A. E. Waller, of Santa Ana presided at the meeting.

Dr. Horace Leeling and Lawrence Young were selected as a nominating committee to choose delegates for the San Francisco state convention to be held in March. Dr. Joseph Costello was given the chairmanship of the national health insurance committee and Dr. Peryl Magill was placed in charge of the committee on public health relations.

Dr. Basil Harris, associate of Dr. Chandler, was a special guest at the meeting.

of mixing politics and relief.

"I thought it was a great mistake for the Senate to have rejected it," Hopkins said. "I think something like it should be passed."

May Meet Again

This morning Halifax again received Phillips for a long and cordial talk at the British embassy and as soon as Phillips had left—to cable a report to the state department; he again saw Phillips and informed them what would you do?"

"My second choice would be to put the whole thing under real civil service."

Sen. James M. Mead, D., N. Y., came to Hopkins' defense, saying "we can correct this whole situation, but we can't do it by picking on you."

Criticized

The committee then concluded the hearing and went into executive session to consider the nomination.

During the earlier testimony Hopkins was vigorously criticized by Sen. Hiram Johnson, R., Calif., particularly regarding WPA activity in the Pennsylvania election race between Sen. James J. Davis, R., and former Gov. George Earle.

U. S. Fleet Masses For Maneuvers

2.—The further jettisoning of Chamberlain's "appeasement" policy in favor of a new orientation based on a less complaisant attitude toward Mussolini and Adolf Hitler.

3.—A poisoning of the atmosphere between the London-Paris and Berlin-Rome diplomatic axis, with an intensification of suspicion and uncertainty in European relation.

4.—Closer mutual alignment of the two groups, democratic and totalitarian.

5.—Fortification of Chamberlain's personal position with the critics in his own country or his policies. It was forecast that this would be the last of Chamberlain's "appeasement" visits, and that the British people would be glad for it.

There was some curiosity whether Chamberlain would invite Mussolini to visit London.

Little Accomplished

Chamberlain and Mussolini had talked for a total of two hours and 45 minutes at two formal meetings. They had at least exchanged views on European problems. But it was indicated that this exchange only made it plain how divergent their views were on the chief diplomatic problems, and most particularly on the Spanish civil war and Mussolini's Mediterranean ambitions.

No further talk was scheduled, except such incidental exchanges as might prove possible tonight at the farewell banquet which the Earl of Perth, the British ambassador, is giving to Chamberlain.

SKILES VISIONS
'FAIR RETURNS'

Fair returns to the lemon grower the coming year because of improved business conditions throughout the nation, were seen by C. E. Skiles, secretary and manager of the Orange County Fruit Growers Exchange speaking before 350 members of the Central Lemon association at an annual meeting at the Orange Woman's clubhouse yesterday afternoon.

Skiles was the first of a number of speakers on a program which followed a turkey dinner. Skiles said that marketing agencies are faced with disposing of the largest crop in the history of the lemon industry, an estimated 23,700 cars, more fruit than can be sold at a profit to the grower.

Many In Talks

Roy Runnels, secretary and manager of the association also expressed hope for better returns for next year as he gave his annual report. He stated that he thought lemon growers had made more—or lost less—than growers of other agricultural crops. Herman Nixon, lemon supervisor for the exchange, told briefly of plans for marketing operation for the present month. Felton Browning member of the board of directors told of the relationship of the growers to their directors.

LeRoy Lyon, Orange County Fruit Exchange representative, on the board of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, said, "We can and will win in the orange business. We may have to go through the wringer a little more but we will put the orange business on a cooperative basis."

Directors Re-elected

By-products and the development of new uses for lemons at the Corona Lemon By-products plant was told by C. J. Wilson manager. Three pounds out of every four pounds of lemon oil sold in the United States is made at the plant where the highest grade of pectin is produced, he said.

Election of directors was held in the afternoon with members of the old board returned to their places. They are Hugh T. Thompson, who has served as president, W. H. Flippin, M. B. Allen, J. L. Clayton and Felton Browning. A. T. McFadden and E. T. Watson were other nominees.

Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers, Santa Ana forum leader, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Jefferson Parent-Teacher association at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school. A representative of each grade in the school will take part in the entertainment program. Mrs. Cassius Paul will preside at the meeting. The executive board will meet at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

The first of a series of parent-education classes being held at McKinley school was held Wednesday afternoon. The group listened to a radio address by Dr. Gertrude Laws following which discussion was led by Mrs. Helen Hunt. The group will meet next Wednesday at 1:15 p.m.

Among several new deputies appointed early this month by Sheriff J. L. Elliott, two former students of Santa Ana junior college, Oliver McCarter and Walter Tipton, were listed, it was learned today. James Walker, newly appointed legal advisor to

TRUCK DRIVER PLAYS AVIATOR AS MACHINE STAGES TAILSPIN

A truck which emulated an airplane and took a tailspin from a loading platform onto the Santa Fe railroad tracks opposite the Santa Fe depot in San Juan Capistrano was back in circulation again today.

The tailspin was taken with the son of J. R. Nelson, San Juan Capistrano truck operator, at the wheel, and he isn't even an aviator. The truck was backed up to the tracks to dump a load of clay from the Santa Margarita ranch into a freight car which was to have hauled the clay to Los Angeles.

But, strange as it seemed to young Nelson shortly afterward, the freight car wasn't there and the hinged ramp down which the truck was to have been backed, had been "folded" down, permanently.

The truck landed with its nose over the edge of the platform and its tail on the tracks. Nelson escaped with a startled look, according to reports, and a helpful train crew which happened by, lifted the truck from the tracks. Chet Congdon of Santa Ana snappily a photograph of the truck while it was still in its "uncomfortable" position.

JUSTICE FIGHT
PLEA IN COURT

In superior court late today, Judge H. G. Ames will grant or deny a petition by Justice David Fairbairn of Orange to reopen the election contest of Cal D. Lester, who had regained by one vote the office Fairbairn wrested from him by eight votes at the polls last November 8.

If Judge Ames refuses to reopen the contest, Lester will resume the office of justice immediately and Fairbairn will retire after serving 11 days in the office. He still would have the privilege of appealing to a higher court.

Scrutiny Again Seen

On the other hand, if Judge Ames consents to reopen the contest, the 17 votes that he eliminated from Fairbairn's total and the 12 votes that were struck from the Lester column would again come under scrutiny of the court, as to their validity.

Fairbairn's counsel, Drumm, Tucker and Drumm, undoubtedly would seek reversal of the court's previous ruling on absentee ballots marked with indelible pencil. The ruling that, because the mark of these pencils could be erased, the ballots were void, is said to have cost Fairbairn the election contest by four votes.

Based on Intent

Judge Ames held that the intent of the statute providing that absent ballots must be marked by rubber stamp, ink or indelible pencil, was that the mark so left on the ballot should be indelible. Attorneys for Fairbairn contend that the indelible pencils were furnished with the absentee ballots by the county clerk and that the ballots clearly show the intent of the voter to cast the ballot for the candidate selected.

Thus it was an issue between the intent of the statute and the intent of the voter.

county. Successful bid of $58,059 was entered by Mountain Construction Co., Sacramento.

"Most Attractive C. of C. Office"

Pictured above is the home of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at 209 West Church street, next door to the Y. M. C. A., that is one of the many achievements of the local booster club during the past year. Visitors, chamber of commerce officials from all parts of the state, and builders have stated that the local offices, while not the largest, are among the most attractive in the state. Total cost, including furnishings, was $5,953.

Steps to organize Orange county producers of milk in order to stabilize the price paid to the dairymen by distributors are now being made, it was announced at a meeting of producers and distributors at the Farm Bureau hall last night.

While the group was unable to reach an understanding last night, it was indicated that another meeting might be called within a week, when further efforts will be made to reach an agreement on prices to producers.

Contracts Likely

The Central Sales agency, now operating in Los Angeles county, has contacted a number of producers in this district and a number have signified their intention of signing contracts, it was reported.

Under the agency plan, distributors would be unable to secure milk from producer members unless they agreed to meet their prices, it was said.

Considerable discussion was held on the price of lower grades of milk, opinion being expressed that the price is too low. One of the principal points of disagreement between producers and distributors is the price on the lower grades of milk.

Martell Thompson, deputy dis- trict attorney, outlined the pro- visions of the Unfair Trade Practices act at the invitation of the group. The meeting was called by Elmer Ritner, chairman of the dairy department of the Orange County Farm bureau. Ned Clinton, of Westminster, presided.

SANTA ANA BOOSTERS BOAST OF UNUSUAL CIVIC PROGRESS

In a year when most business in the county and in the state was having difficulty in "keeping out of the red," the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce built a $6000 headquarters and finished the year with a balance of $700 and a membership of 305 firms and individual members, a survey revealed today.

At the opening of the chamber year in 1935, total indebtedness of the organization stood at $4700.

Part of the debt was from a lack of income from supporters and part of the debt was from the operation of an auto camp.

In two years the chamber, un-

"MY RESOLUTION FOR 1939"

"To join Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard and the Santa Ana police department to make my home town, SANTA ANA, the safest traffic city in the United States in 1939 by carefully watching the street, watching out for children, pedestrians, observing boulevard stops and other laws and in every way being courteous to other drivers."

POLICE CHIEF HOWARD

Traffic Safety Campaign Opens

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard today was prepared to launch his traffic safety campaign for 1939 to make Santa Ana one of the "whitest" cities in America with reference to traffic accidents, injuries and deaths. The campaign, beginning now, will last through March 15.

Thousands of cards, like the one printed on this page in the form of a resolution, are ready for distribution. They will be signed by motorists who will be contacted by school children, merchants and others. The resolution cards will be distributed by the children under a contest plan, the five girls and the five boys obtaining the most signatures, to receive prizes to be donated by local business firms.

The Santa Ana theaters, through George King, manager of the West Coast theaters; Vic Walker, manager of Walker's theater, and George Vest, head of the local operator's union, are lending fine cooperation," Chief Howard said, "and will introduce safety picture trailers to be shown on the screens for several months. Other special safety programs are to be presented by the theaters."

The Chief not only is carrying out the safety campaign for protection of the general public but is planning to give greater protection to his officers, he said. If city council permits when he contacts that body at its next meeting, the Chief will ride in the motorcycles used by the motor squad and will substitute automobiles. The reason for the move, he said, is to avoid injury to his motorcycle patrolmen, three of whom have been hurt in recent months.

"I've had three good motorcycle officers injured seriously recently and I don't want any more of them hurt if it can be avoided," the Chief declared. The officers injured were Ernest Zimmerman, who suffered a fractured ankle at Washington and Main, when a woman assertedly drove in front of him unexpectedly; Francis Norton, who received a dislocated shoulder at North Main street, when his motorcycle skidded on sand as he made a turn, and Chet Gross, who received a compound fracture of right arm at Fourth and Van Ness, when his motorcycle collided with a truck.

Several safety highlights were heard on the service club stage program at Walker's theater yesterday. Chief Howard pointed out that a previous safety campaign resulted in marked reduction of accidents in the city. He said signing one of the safety resolutions helps reduce accidents because signing a safety card impresses safety on the mind more than a verbal suggestion that motorists be careful. The resolution cards, he said, will be filed at the police department.

Master of Ceremonies David Howell presented a safety reminder in rhyme. Frankie Darro, actor who plays "bad boy" and reckless parts in the movies, became facetious. He presented what he said he heard from a safety commissioner. He quoted the commissioner as telling him, " Later, however, and seriously, Darro appealed to motorists to drive cautiously at all times. Shirley Deane of the Jones Family pictures, also made a similar appeal.

Said George Offerman, of the "Three Comrades" cast: "I am sure if we make a promise to ourselves not to do things we 'bawl out' other motorists for, we will have greater safety in traffic." Said Joan Woodbury of the "Algiers" cast: "Let us drive more safely and sanely and there will be more children left in Orange county to bring happiness to Orange county families."

CROWELL, L. A. HEAVYWEIGHT, IN N. Y. FIGHT

BY HARRY FERGUSON
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—They're throwing six pretty fair heavyweights into Madison Square Garden ring tonight for 30 rounds or less of brawling and bleeding. Don't look now, but isn't that Squire Thomas Farr among them, making another attempt to gain his first victory in the United States on this, of all days—Friday the 13th?

Yes, it's the squire, the unlucky squire from Tonypandy.

This evening the squire goes against "Red" Burman of Baltimore, a young man who is under the wing of Jack Dempsey and is nesting close there in the hope that Dempsey's punching power will prove contagious, bringing a welcome case of sock to the Burman right and left fists.

"Chuck" Crowell on Card

Either one or the other 10 rounders may turn out to be a better fight. Lots of eyes, for instance, will be on Buddy Knox of Akron, making his debut in New York against "Chuck" Crowell. Knox comes east with the reputation of a puncher, and in the last two years he has never been on the wrong end of a decision.

Crowell, a stoop-shouldered stringbean from Los Angeles appeared in a preliminary bout at the Garden a month or so ago and belted Jim Robinson into dreamland in two rounds. The Crowell-Knox thing may develop some Fourth of July fireworks.

Roscoe Toles of Detroit and Gus Dorazio of Philadelphia meet in the third 10-rounder. Toles is the boy who hammered Jimmy Adamick out in two rounds a few months ago, hitting him so hard that Adamick wound up in the hospital. Dorazio, a former amateur champion, holds a victory over Bob Pastor as his chief claim to fame.

To further the cause of thoroughbred horse breeding in California, the Hollywood Turf club will pay to breeders of California bred horses an additional 10 per cent on stakes and purses in the first, second, and fourth place first, second, third or fourth.

In making this announcement today, Jack MacKenzie, general manager, explained that this would not apply to races exclusively for California bred horses.

The second annual meeting at Hollywood park opens June 1, 1939, and runs 43 days.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT RACING BY GWYNNE

successfully in past years by means of a blindfold, and just why one should not be used on Heelfly is a mystery to this writer. If Heelfly breaks, and his backers will have to take a gamble on this, he should put up a great battle.

The race will mark the debut of Esposa, one of America's best mares, and judging from her training, she should run close to top figures. She has two trials of a mile in better than 1:39 and the clockers are high on her chances.

Victorious in his only two starts, Sir Raleigh, the hope of Tony Pelleteri, will command considerable attention.

Both newspapers also said that Miss Baarova was a friend of Miss Ondra, and the News said Schmeling's wife "has frequently been a guest of Dr. Goebels and on several occasions had gone to his home to listen to the broadcasts of her husband's fights in the Nazi party."

The Mirror said Goebels asked Schmeling's arrest on grounds of gross insult and menace against the reichsminister but that Hitler did not take the incident too seriously. The newspaper said Miss Baarova was hiding near Berlin.

Steve Owen, coach of the Giants, and I got to talking. "The receiver should get a full fifty per cent of the credit," Owen said. "There never was a great passer who had poor receivers. You can start with Gus Dorais and Knute Rockne, and run right down the line, without finding a passer who became famous with poor catchers. Friedman has his Oosterban, Howell his Hutson, Baugh his Walls, Obrien his Looney and Clark, and Nave his Krueger. My own Danowski, whom I think is the finest passer who ever lived, would never have made the record he has with Tod Goodwin and Dale Burnett on the catching end."

The passer, Owen said, is like a pampered child. Big, tough guys are dropped back to protect him and give him time to make his spectacular throws. But the receiver, the forgotten man, is strictly on his own.

Take the Rose Bowl game, for example. Southern California beat Duke because a young man named Nave threw a pass to a young man named Krueger in the end zone with 40 seconds to play. Nave got all the credit. His name has been in the headlines ever since, and sometime this week he is going to be presented with a big gold watch and a testimonial banquet.

But if Nave deserves a watch and a banquet, Krueger ought to have a clock and a meal ticket good for a year. It was Krueger who made that winning play possible. It was he who outsmarted and outran Duke's defenders, just as he outran and outsmarted the Notre Dame defense in an earlier game. Krueger was the man who sold the packing house prices every day in the year!

RETURNS FROM SEALS SHORT OF AMOUNT NEEDED FOR WORK

Returns from Christmas Seals to date fall short of the amount needed to carry out necessary work this year, according to a report made at the regular monthly meeting this week of the Orange County Tuberculosis & Health Association, Ltd. in Santa Ana.

Before the work is complete, all seals mailed out must be accounted for. Those who can make a contribution are urged to do so at once, and those who cannot are asked to help the committee complete its work by returning their seals.

Co-operation Cited

"If you have not sent your money for Christmas Seals, please do so today," Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth, secretary, said. "It is a source of the greatest satisfaction to the committee in charge of the 1938 sale of Christmas Seals that the response has evidenced, in many instances, such whole-hearted co-operation in this fine enterprise. Out of an approximate 20,000 persons who received seals this year, there remain 9463 from whom nothing has been heard."

At the meeting, budget and program committees were appointed and school and adult case-finding surveys discussed. The value of the year-round educational program of sound films, lectures, and dramatizations to groups are emphasized.

Control Need Told

"It must be remembered that the need for tuberculosis control measures is increasing. The tuberculosis death rate is no longer rapidly declining in California. This is attributed to a variety of factors, population increases, lowered living standards, and the influx of needy transients. Prevention and control programs must be everywhere strengthened if we are to hold our 30 years gains in an unceasing warfare against the white plague."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — The independent thinkers and the Garbo boys are being boosted quietly but surely into the stirrups in congress.

This is saddling time. House committed vacancies are being filled. Leaders treat the matter as dull routine. The public gives no attention. Yet insiders know the big issues of the coming two years are really being decided now by the selection of the men to the committees which control legislation in the lower house.

It is therefore a matter of some significance that the Democratic caucus gave the highest number of votes for a vacancy on the all-important house ways and means committee to:

Milton West, a Texan, a Garner man, one whom Mr. Roosevelt possibly would call a yes-but-er, who certainly will want to be sure how everything is going to work out before he votes for it.

The three other candidates for the three other vacancies on this committee which originates tax, tariff and other financial legislation finished in the following order:

2. Maloney of New Orleans, another independent thinker.

3. Pat Boland, of Scranton, Pa., house whip, a Roosevelt-on-practically-everything man.

4. McKeough of Chicago, a Roosevelt-on-everything-he-couldpossibly-think-of-man.

It means the two top favorites with the house Democrats were not Roosevelt's choices. It also means that anytime 3 Democrats think the administration is wrong on any issue, and join with the Republicans, Roosevelt will lose control of tax, tariff and financial legislation at the source.

Ways and means Democrats also select the other committees of the house, most important of which is the rules committee controlling the house program.

Latest slate for the four rules committee vacancies as this was written included: Colmer of Mississippi, Delaney of New York, Dempsey of New Mexico, and Costello of California (although Costello, a New Dealer, is supposed to be declining the honor.)

Careful inner checking on how this revised rules committee would stand on the question of executive domination indicates:

Democrats In Close Harmony...

President Roosevelt, stressing Democratic party harmony at the annual Jackson Day dinner in Washington, whispers a confidential word to Vice-president Garner.

ANNUAL SCOUT REPORT SHOWS INCREASE IN GROUP ACTIVITY

The 28th annual report of Boy Scouts of America of Orange county, prepared by Merle J. Krulish, field scout executive and Harrison White, county scout executive, today revealed an increase of more than 1000 scouts since 1930 has been shown by the organization.

"Membership in scouting at the end of 1938 reached new time high of 1369 Scouts and 455 Cubs, making a total of 1824 boys being influenced by the Scout organization in our county. Contrasting this with the report of 1930 we see the tremendous growth which has taken place in the last 8 years. With a total membership in 1930 of 722 we have made a gain of 1102," Krulish said.

CUB PROGRAM DRAWS
"One of the causes of our tremendous growth in the last year is attributed to the popularity of our Cub program, the new junior program of the Boy Scouts of America from the ages of 9 to 12. At the present time we have 455 Cub which is a gain of 184 over last year. The Senior Scout program has also progressed.

"In camping which stresses the outing in Scouting, the Council has had an unusually fine record. On week end camps at Camp Irvine 2646 different individuals have enjoyed the facilities of this camp. For the long term camps at Camp Ro-Ki-Li 2771 different boys were registered."

LIST SCOUTMASTERS
Scoutmasters serving in the county at the present time are: District 1, P. M. Honold, Edwin W. Elliott, Francis J. Dell, Hollis W. Fitz, J. F. Lockner and Walter E. Dabney. District 2, Kenneth E. Morrison, H. E. Douglas, Floyd A. Haskell, Othal P. Stapp, Earl Hoisington, F. P. Nickey Jr., J. R. Lester Boyle, Herman F. Stahl, Lucian R. Dalton, Allen Floyd, J. B. Stephenson, Wm. M. Mrs. Kirven, Schenck and others connected with the campaign were luncheon guests of Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz of Los Angeles, with the luncheon being served in the county jail.

Mrs. Kirven said, "It was decided to confine all activities of the county organizations raising money for the Infantile Paralysis foundation to the 'march of dimes.' It was felt by all of those attending the conference that the energies expended in arranging for the balls could be of more benefit if utilized in conducting the sale of infantile paralysis buttons."

She also stressed the fact that 50 per cent of all moneys raised during the campaign will be expended in Southern California under direction of a committee on which Orange county will be represented.

SUNDAY EVENT TO OPEN FETE

Having arrived at its golden milestone, the First Congregational church of Santa Ana Sunday will commence a triple celebration of its half-century of progress, concluding the observance on the following Sunday, January 22. Sandwiched between will be the anniversary banquet on Wednesday, January 18, the exact anniversary date.

The year 1939 not only marks the 50th anniversary of the church but also is the silver anniversary year for the ministry of the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, its pastor, who has served in the pulpit during half the life of the church. His 25th anniversary date is next December 1.

DR. NORTON SPEAKS

Dr. Edwin C. Norton, dean emeritus of Pomona College, will be the speaker at next Sunday morning's service, his subject being "The Measure of Things." Pomona College was just a year old when the Santa Ana church was organized, and Dean Norton was a member of its first faculty.

The church choir, assisted by guest artists, will present a musical vesper service at 4:30 next Sunday afternoon, when greetings of the Congregational church of California will be brought by the Rev. Edward D. Gaylord, D. D., superintendent of the Southern California Congregational Conference.

PAGEANT INCLUDED

On Sunday, January 22, the morning sermon will be preached by the Rev. Raymond C. Brooks, D. D., president of Cummock school, Los Angeles, and former head of the department of religion in Pomona College. His subject will be "Where Do We Go From Here?"

An historical pageant, "Pilgrim Followers of the Gleam," will be presented at 7:30 p. m., Sunday, January 22. Mrs. Edith Thatcher, of the high school department of English, and a member of the church, is author of the pageant. Mrs. Estelle Card Beaman, also a member of the church, will direct it.

ANNIVERSARY BANQUET

At the anniversary banquet on Wednesday evening, greetings will be sent by other churches of the city, the business life, clubs, former pastors and friends.

The address of the evening will be delivered by the Rev. Henry Kendall Booth, D. D., minister of the First Congregational church of Long Beach. Harold E. Wahlberg, who is chairman of the anniversary committee planning the celebration, will act as toastmaster at the banquet.

It cost the owners of the White Wing Egg farms of Puente, $200 in Justice Halsey Spence's court at Fullerton yesterday to sell the public overripe eggs. However, it wasn't the first time, according to Agricultural Commissioner Dixon W. Tubbs, whose inspectors brought the complaints against White Wing Egg farms.

Tubbs today revealed a court record showing a total of 15 offenses, including the current two, committed during the past five years. Hundreds of dollars in fines have been paid by the defendant organization, four of the cases being in Orange county, the rest in Los Angeles and Riverside counties, Tubbs said.

The occasion was a meeting in the Panorama Heights home of Mrs. Leland Finley, where Mrs. Kingsley Tuttle joined in hostess duties.

After business matters were disposed of under leadership of Mrs. Wayne Harrison, the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Tevis Westgate. Discussion of the subject continued during the interval when Mrs. Finley and Mrs. Tuttle served refreshments to their guests. In the group with the speaker, Mrs. Rohfleisch, were Mesdames Stanley Anderson, Kenneth Connor, Edward M. Torosa Rebekahs Begin Year With Installation Attended by 200 members and guests, Torosa Rebekah lodge's installation of officers Wednesday night in I.O.O.F. hall marked the opening of a new regime for the organization, now headed by Mrs. Alice Tolhurst as noble grand. Mrs. Minnie Squier is retiring leader of the lodge.

Hanging baskets of ferns, bouquets of white lilies, pussy willows and other flowers formed a colorful background for the rites, conducted by the official installing staff from Westminster. Installing officer was Elizabeth Hall, district deputy president, who wore a rose satin gown. Her deputy marshal, Mrs. Linda McDonald, was in navy blue satin, while other members of the team were in apricot tones. Mrs. Tolhurst chose a burgundy crepe frock and Mrs. Squier was in white.

Taking offices with Mrs. Tolhurst were Irene Lancaster, vice grand; Ada Spencer, recording secretary; Ethel Brown, treasurer; Leota Allen, financial secretary. Appointive officers installed were Blanche Cartmell, warden; Cora Wilson, conductor; Fannie Lacy, chaplain; Maryann

Among the guests introduced were visitors from Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota.

Announcement was made that the lodge will meet January 25 at 6:30 p.m. in the hall for covered dish dinner, with Mrs. Squier as chairman. Card play will be in charge of Mrs. Myers.

BY ANN MEREDITH

National cooks jars are suffering from a well known disease diagnosed as "the gapes", due entirely to internal emptiness. I present these two cooky prescriptions as emergency treatment for the condition. Incidentally, let me add that I ate both kinds the other night and refused to leave my hostess' house until she broke down and gave me the recipes.

Date Nut Bars
2 eggs, well beaten with
3-4 cup white sugar
3-4 cup pre-sifted flour, sifted again with 1 teaspoon baking powder and

1-2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix in order listed. Butter a cookie sheet and dump the dough in middle of sheet. Then start spreading it, inch by inch until the dough is spread in thin film over the pan. Bake in a 375 oven about 20 minutes. Cut and dust with powdered sugar.

Peanut Butter Cookies
1 cup shortening
1 cup, each white and brown sugar

1 cup peanut butter
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups pre-sifted flour, sifted again with 1 teaspoon, each, salt and baking powder

1 scant teaspoon soda dissolved in
1 tablespoon hot water.

Cream sugars with fat, add peanut butter and cream again, then add the eggs and whip until the mass is creamy. Stir in dissolved soda and work in flour. Make walnut sized balls of the dough, place on a buttered cookie sheet and flatten balls with tines of a fork. Bake in medium oven.

EXPLORERS MAP OCEAN CANYONS

NEW YORK — (UP) — Study of the vast submarine canyons off the California coast support the theory that these were cut by streams in early geologic days, Dr. Francis P. Shepard, of the Scripps Institution, reported to the Geological Society of America.

In a paper delivered before the society's semi-centennial meeting, Dr. Shepard reported on submarine geological formations studied aboard the institution's auxiliary schooner, the E. W. Scripps. The vessel, fully equipped for oceanographic investigations, was made available for alternate months this year through a co-operative arrangement with the Geological Society.

Some of the findings support the theory that either the continents were greatly elevated or the sea level greatly lowered from present levels, Dr. Shepard said. On this theory, the submarine canyons were cut by streams flowing over continents, just as the Colorado has cut its great chasm.

A second theory is that some sort of submarine current acting now or during the times of continental glaciation has been responsible for these huge valleys.

Investigations centered on the taking of thousands of soundings to determine canyon configuration; taking of bottom cores to study sedimentation on the ocean floor, and the dredging of canyon walls to learn the rock structure. In addition, the lowering of currentmeters to various ocean depths aided in determining water movements.

"The data gathered in the course of this work has brought new evidence to bear upon the submarine canyon problem," Dr. Shepard said. "It has been established that the canyons are not being filled with sediments at the present time despite the large load of material which is being brought to them by the floods and ocean currents."

The scientists added that the discovery of well rounded water gravel up to two inches or more in diameter in cores taken along the bottom of the canyons gives support to the idea that these were former stream courses."

Dr. Shepard said that further supporting the river theory of canyon formation was the discovery of delta-like features outside of the canyons half a mile below sea level.

"If the canyons were cut by rivers they might have deltas at their lower limits," he added, explaining that it was difficult to get reliable information regarding the outer portions of canyons.

Dredging operations along canyon walls brought to light a 2,000-foot cliff of granite on the side of the Monterey submarine canyon. All the main types of known rocks are represented in the dredgings, he added.

Stamp News

By C. W. Clarke

First-day sales of the Theodore Roosevelt and Taft stamps of the new U. S. regular series totaled $20,120 and $31,288 respectively. Issuance of these two values completed the 1938 U. S. philatelic program.

Newest nation to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the U. S. Constitution is Panama. Panama shortly will issue two sets, five regular values and five airmail. Produced in multi-color in sheets of 25, the stamps feature a center with two ovals, that to the left showing the ruins of the Cathedral Tower of old Panama and that to the right showing the Statue of Liberty. At the extreme left is the flag of Panama and at the extreme right the United States flag, both in their natural red, white and blue. The airmail set in addition carries a plane at the top.

Many German stamps may be obtained for less than face today because Nazi refugees are putting them on foreign markets to save some of their money, which would be otherwise confiscated.

To commemorate the visit to Canada next summer of the British sovereigns, the Dominion will issue a special set of postage stamps and mint a Canadian silver dollar. King George VI has already approved the designs for the stamps. Prime Minister Mackenzie King has announced.

STAMPS of the new U. S. regular series are to be made available in coils and books, the Post Office Department has announced.

The new coils in the sidewise perforated variety only will be first placed on sale in Washington, D. C., Jan. 20, in the following denominations: 1 cent, 1½ cent, 2 cent, 3 cent, 4 cent, 4½ cent, 5 cent, 6 cent, and 10 cent. Collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the new coil stamps may send not more than 10 addressed covers for each of the above denominations to the Postmaster, Washington, D. C., with a cash or postal money order remittance covering the exact amount of postage required. Allowance must be made also for the first-class postage rate other than for local delivery. Orders must reach the Washington postmaster by Jan. 15, 1939.

The new coils in the endwise perforated variety, as well as books containing the new regular issue in the same combination as available at present, will be first placed on sale in Washington, Jan. 27, in the following denominations:

Endwise coils: 1 cent, 1½ cent, 2 cent, 3 cent, 4 cent, 4½ cent, 5 cent, and 10 cent.

First-day cover regulations will apply in the same manner to the endwise coils and book panes. Orders for endwise coils and book panes, however, must not reach the Washington postmaster later than Jan. 22. Covers will not be serviced with less than full panes of six each of book stamps.

Sharp controversy has already swept the country as to who should be included in the forthcoming issue of "famous" Americans, 10 of which will likely be released in 1939. The Post Office Department has suggested leading universities of the country be asked to help in the final decision.

He served in the Cuba Insurrection in 1897, in the Rough Riders in Cuba in 1898—the First Bataan Horse—in South Africa 1899-1902; Foreign Legion Serbian Army-Balkans, 1905; Incurables of Honduras, Nicaragua, and Mexico; the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in France in 1914-15-16; the U. S. Army in France in 1917-18-19.

He will relate how he made a living between wars following many strange vocations—a sailor, a steamboat pilot; a guide on sightseeing cars in New York, Washington and London. He was an actor in burlesque with Weber

ASK POLICE TO COLLECT

VISALIA, Cal. (UP)—Police here have received a request from Minneapolis asking them to collect 30 cents from a local woman resident who is alleged to have been owing that amount since April 17, 1938. The police were advised that the woman didn't have to pay the amount unless she wanted to, but they were asked not to tell her that. The 30 cents is still owing, so far as the police know.

Legislators Debate On California Relief Plans

DRIVE OPENS TO MERGE ACTIVITY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 13.—(UP)—California's relief program—both present and future—was the subject of debate today as the Olson administration pushed forward in a drive to coordinate relief and social welfare activities.

The social welfare board was faced with the decision of rebuffing Gov. Culbert L. Olson by choosing state relief Administrator H. Dewey Anderson to head the social welfare department, or retain Mrs. Florence L. Turner, an appointee of both former Gov. Frank Merriam and the board as director.

Makes Frank Request

Anderson frankly asked the board members to let him step into Mrs. Turner's duties as the best way to expedite consolidation of relief activities and inaugurate the new Olson program of self-help cooperatives and production-for-use.

The board can block Olson if it desires, although he gains one member by appointment this year and assumes control with three more in 1940.

Volume of Bills

While the relief board studied Anderson's estimate of a $100,000,000 relief request in the budget, the assembly studied a related administration measure. It would appoint an interim committee of seven members to work with relief officials during the February interim recess to help the legislature act upon relief items in the budget.

Both senate and assembly had a mass of bills for presentation before the weekend recess this afternoon. It has been tentatively decided that the legislature will recess for the interim at the end of next week, giving the legislators only one more week in which to introduce bills.

Victory Barbecue To Be Held At H. B. On Jan. 28

Plans for a Victory Barbecue to be held Jan. 28 at Ocean Front Pavilion, Huntington Beach, in celebration of the recent party victory at the polls when Gov. Culbert L. Olson, Lieut.-Gov. Ellis T. Patterson, Senator Sheridan Downey and Congressman Harry Sheppard were elected to office, were announced today by H. C. Head, chairman of the Orange County Assembly of Democrats, and Wayne Harrison, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee.

Head and Harrison are co-chairmen in charge of arrangements for the celebration.

Committee Named
At a meeting of representatives of all Democratic groups in the county Head and Harrison announced appointment of the following committee chairmen to be in charge of various phases of the program.

Mrs. Claudia Worswick was named chairman of the ticket sales committee; Herbert Kenney, program chairman; Curtis Burrow, president of the Young Democrats; barbecue chairman, and Tony Barrios was named to have charge of preparations of the barbecue which will be served from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

There are two types of "contact" lenses. Ground lenses are identified by recognized numbers and are ground; blown lenses are produced by glass-blowers and are fitted by trial until the proper lens is found, usually by accident.

Having Trouble, John?

That stream of incoming members assembling for the 76th Congress seems to have momentarily baffled Vice President John Nance Garner whose role in national politics looms larger than ever. "Cactus Jack" wrinkles his face in perplexity which the camera registers faithfully.

OFFICERS FACE MYSTERY AS GIRL, 2, IS RETURNED HOME

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 13.—(UP)—Yvonne Lee, 2, the object of a 34-hour search by hundreds of citizens and police, was returned home today.

She was suffering from exposure that threatened pneumonia after a small boy found her under his home. Bloodhounds earlier had trailed her to an alley behind the house.

Officers were undecided if she had been kidnapped, as first feared. They didn't believe that she could have been placed under the house, a block from her home, without being seen by scores of searchers. Her clothing was little soiled and she was unscratched by glass and wire under the house, however, and her mother, Mrs. Cleo Lee, said that her shoes were tied differently.

Mrs. Lee had reported that she was threatened a year ago by a former suitor.

Sheriff Lon Jordan first believed the child had crawled beneath the house through a ventilator while playing with a dog Wednesday night, the first after she wandered from home, the

Seeks Probation In Check Case

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 13.—(UP)—Bosworth Bryant, 36, Alameda, today awaited action of authorities on his request for probation following a plea of guilty to a charge of passing a worthless check.

He was booked in the county jail on petty theft and bad check charges pending final hearing on his probation plea Jan. 30.

Bryant, arrested here Dec. 30 by Amil Demes, special investigator for the district attorney's office, pleaded guilty in justice court to issuing a worthless $14 check. He claimed he used the check to buy groceries.

ALTRUSANS RECEIVE FOOT HEALTH TALK

Because of the importance of foot health, especially to those in the business world, a talk on that theme given last night by Dr. L. B. Blanchard of Hollywood, proved both interesting and informative for Altrusa club members, dining at Daniger's.

Miss Irene McPaul, club president, turned the program over to Dr. Beatrice Schmee, who had secured the speaker, and who introduced him and various other guests, including Dr. Orville Call, also of Hollywood, Dr. William Leek, Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Sherrard, Santa Ana; Miss Adalaine Price and Miss Adah Wilcox of the Anaheim school system and various other guests.

As secretary of California Chiropractors' association, Dr. Blanchard was prepared with a fund of information regarding the prevalence of foot ailments, which was made strikingly apparent during the days of the World war.

Two new members were welcomed, Miss Opal Davis and Mrs. Joseph Daniger. Plans were made for the meeting on January 26 when the club will dine at Swanson's and attend the Symphony concert in the high school auditorium.

FARM BUREAU PREVIEW PLANS MONDAY TALK

Trends of Costs and Returns On Avocados" will be discussed by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg. Farm bureau activities will be discussed by David Crist, director.

Soldiers returning from the Crimean War introduced cigarette smoking into England. Cigars and pipes were the usual methods of enjoying tobacco in that country previous to that time.

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

FERTILIZER TOPIC OF FARM ADDRESS

VILLA PARK, Jan. 13.—Groves which have always been well fertilized can go without organic fertilizer for several years, especially when good cover crops are grown but such a measure is advisable only in an emergency and not for economy, Dr. E. R. Parker, assistant horticulturist of the University of California citrus experimental station at Riverside, told members of the Foothill farm center at a meeting in the Villa Park hall last night.

Approximately 150 persons were present. An economical fertilizer program for the present period of low prices, was outlined. Dr. Parker advised use of a low grade of organic material such as bean straw, or a good heavy cover crop, in company with some inexpensive inorganic fertilizer.

Leslie Pruitt's 12-piece swing band from Fullerton junior college entertained the farm center last night. Dinner at 6:30 o'clock was supervised by a committee which had Mrs. Ray Kuechel as chairman.

Other business included the director's report by H. H. Gardner, an announcement by C. S. Crawford of a meeting of avocado growers January 20 to discuss prices, and a report on the county and Foothill home department meetings by Mrs. J. A. Porter.

Ross Crane, of the Extension service, announced plans for a 4-H tour this month and the appointment of Gilbert Bradford as leader for the Olive Hill-billies.

V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Community Chamber of commerce, extended an invitation to the farm center members to attend the chamber's annual community dinner next Wednesday.

SENATOR WESTOVER AND SANTA CLAUS

It is only natural that a man like Harry Westover would introduce a bill to attempt to prevent pictures of Santa Claus to be used commercially. Anyone who has followed his record is obliged to conclude that he either believes in Santa Claus himself or he is a pecksniff.

If you do not have a modern dictionary, Webster's latest definition of a pecksniff is, "a canting hypocrite in Dickens' 'Martin Chuzzlewit.' Although using every form of deception and rascality to advance his own interests he continually utters moral precepts and pretends to virtue even in drunkenness and in the shame which discovery of his duplicity brings."

And it seems this definition better fits most of our modern lawmakers who promise anything in order to get votes than the plain old word 'demagogue.' Pecksniff is a good word in our modern times!

GOVERNMENT WITHIN GOVERNMENT

People in Southern California should bow their heads in shame when it becomes necessary for a group of people like the Associated Farmers to take into their hands duties that belong absolutely to the government and to the elected officers. The point in question is the molesting, intimidating action of the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. and the officials controlling the San Pedro port with the determination of eliminating a truck driver who is not paying tribute to the teamsters' union.

The people of California are under great obligations to the Associated Farmers for the courage and patriotic service they are rendering by attempting to defend the inalienable rights of a man to work without paying tribute to labor racketeers. If the labor racketeers are able, by intimidation and coercion, to, one by one, force every business institution and every worker to pay tribute to them before they have the right to the pursuit of happiness by work, then we will have lost the very cornerstone of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights that each man is endowed with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. It is amazing that we, in the United States, should come to such a condition that our public officials do not give a man protection in his Christian right of working and putting more into the world than he takes out. It seems we have the Pagan doctrine that it is wicked to work, wicked to pray by work, wicked to serve humanity by performing a service to humanity.

WHEN THE FIREMEN CALL

"If two firemen come to your door," writes Paul W. Kearney in This Week Magazine, "by all means let them in. They are visiting you in their uniforms simply because they want to avoid a later call in rubber coats and boots."

Mr. Kearney describes the voluntary home inspection campaigns, in which an increasing number of communities in various population brackets are joining. The statistics tell the story. When, for instance, Cincinnati inaugurated its program five years ago, 14 truck loads of useless, combustible rubbish were carted from a single house, and five from another. In the first Providence, R. I. campaign, 1680 tons of similar dangerous waste, an average of 43 pounds per home, was carted to the municipal incinerator. Result: the annual dwelling fires dropped at once from 550 to 201.

Many can show similar records. And such vital safety work as this should not be confined to large communities, with established full-time fire departments. It should be possible, through cooperative action, for every small town to work with the state and county fire authorities in inaugurating and carrying on these voluntary campaigns. In fact, they are especially needed in rural areas, where thousands of farm houses and barns contain useless, dangerous junk.

In some cities where this plan has been tried there has been a 50 per cent drop in dwelling fires. As Mr. Kearney says: "This is no small result in a nation which has 1000 dwelling fires a day and which has seen residential blazes increase 40 per cent since 1925. And it is in residential blazes that 75 per cent of our fire deaths—half of them children—occur."

HE PROMISED TO BALANCE IT
(From the Chicago Daily News)

This is the time of year when it is interesting to look back over the President's various promises to balance the budget.

In the 1932 campaign, when he was accusing the Hoover administration of being the greatest peacetime spender in all our history, he promised again and again to balance the budget by economies. For example, on Oct. 19, 1932, he said:

"It is my pledge and promise that this dangerous kind of financing (deficit financing) shall be stopped, and that rigid economy shall be forced by a stern and unremitting administration policy of living within our income."

On Jan. 3, 1934, with New Deal deficits in full swing, he was still going to balance the budget and reduce the debt, but not right away.

"We should plan," he said, "to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery, and from that time on seek a continuing reduction of the national debt."

Another year went by. The deficits were already running about $3,000,000,000 a year, then as now. Mr. Roosevelt said on Jan. 7, 1935:

"We have not yet reached a point at which a complete balance of the budget can be obtained."

REFORMER'S IDEA OF POVERTY CAUSING CRIME

A letter from an Ohio reader takes exception to my statement that poverty is not the cause of crime. The questioner says that my former question for an explanation of why there is so much more crime now, with a higher standard of living, than 30 years ago, almost answers itself. The questioner says, "30 years ago, most anyone who really wanted a job could get it. Now it is difficult to get a job."

Well, let us analyze the records and see how much crime there was before the present depression and 30 years ago.

The records in the World Almanac which I have available, show that in 1904 there were 55,429 people in prison. The population at that time, in round numbers, was 80,000,000. By the beginning of 1930, before the panic, there were 116,670 people in prison and the population in 1930 was 122,000,000. So, the population from 1904 to 1930 increased 50 per cent, while the prisoners increased 110 per cent, or over twice as fast as the population increased. Certainly the advocates of the Townsend Plan and the New Dealers and the Socialists, who have been contending for years, that poverty is the cause of crime, would not contend that there was more poverty in 1904 than there was in the beginning of 1930. And for any man to make claims without any figures or evidence to substantiate their claims is, as Lord Kelvin says, to know very little about the subject.

Probably these people who like to wish they could eliminate crime by eliminating poverty have never read Jeremy Bentham, who said: "To enjoy immediately—to enjoy without labor, is the natural inclination of every man." We have to be "born again," as the good book says, if we are to eliminate crime.

Then again if we are to believe in the philosophy of Christianity as to the effects of riches on the conduct of life listen to the words of Jesus when he said: "Verily I say unto you, That a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven." Evidently the defenders of the Townsend plan believe Jesus did not know what he was talking about. And $200 a month for both man and wife without children to support is certainly more riches than most any rich man had at the time Jesus made this statement.

Certainly the amount of wealth we have in a nation has little to do with eliminating crime. If anything, it has a tendency to increase crime because there are very few people who can stand up and retain a character when they have plenty of wealth or even when they see others with large amounts of wealth. As Goldsmith said, in "The Deseret Village":

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay."

Certainly the Townsends and the New Dealers and the Socialists will have to get a better excuse for confiscating the wealth of some and giving it to others in order to reduce crime. The records do not substantiate their claim. They prove that getting something for nothing, instead of eliminating crime only greatly intensifies crime. It is a Pagan idea advocated by the Townsend Plan and the New Deal that is wrecking the country and increasing crime instead of reducing it.

GOOD BOOKS

A great French writer aptly describes the importance of good books. He said, "without books God is silent, Justice dormant, natural science at a stand, philosophy lame, letters dumb and all things involved in Cimmerian darkness."

That certainly is true, and the reader cannot afford to spend too much time reading newspapers and magazines when there are so many wonderful books with which to become acquainted. There is so much to learn and so little time in which to learn it. Good books are one of the best ways in the world to meet and become acquainted with the great thinkers of the ages.

For one reason, the circulation of the unfair remarks has been small, and a suit would serve to spread them further; for another, a suit might create publicity for an obscure publication, a hope which causes their editors to court legal reprisals, and, finally, the victim of the wrong usually does not want to waste his time for no cash return.

The moderation which came with assets and responsibility as the daily press of this country developed a partnership with commerce is a public protection against the sordid abuse, the class-interpretation amounting to downright news-poisoning and the sullen incitation to disorder which are characteristic of radical publications. Freedom from responsibility often is interpreted as freedom to libel, and objective reporters as well as commentators who check their material, discarding rumor, sometimes marvel at the effrontery of those who accuse the daily newspapers in publications which are themselves notorious for their disregard of truth, fact and fairness.

There was the time when certain stalwarts of personal journalism dominated the scene—hilarious rowdies who wrote with little restraint and often less truth—but the very critics who chide the standard press of today for tempestuous expression would be first and loudest opponents of any proposal to repeal the libel laws so as to permit those papers similar freedom. It would be said that they were not interested in truth, but only wanted to be relieved of the penalties for persecuting innocent individuals, particularly radicals of the left or right.

It would be a foul conspiracy by the press and big business to abolish the public's only protection against systematic knifing and hacking of its great liberal leaders. Yet if the daily papers did not have their advertising revenues they would have no financial responsibility and would be as free to distort news and lie about innocent citizens as any communist publication.

It need not be argued that all the libelous irresponsibles the communist papers are the most brutal, although they are also

Fair Enough

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Among those who insist that the truth is not in American newspapers the first argument is that their dependence on advertising revenues compels them to serve the interests of those who buy the paper.

But the very fact that a paper is a big business, with valuable plant and other assets derived from advertising receipts, serves to promote truth and temperance of expression as well. For proof it is necessary only to turn to the rasping little periodicals of limited circulation, which describe themselves as liberal, progressive or radical, and check their material on points of fact. It will then be found that a bold and raucous style of presentation, a fixed policy of sneering at all persons or groups of opposed opinion, particularly at conservatives, often substitutes for honesty and that their lack of attachable assets, beyond a couple of typewriters and a few office chairs and filing cabinets, relieves them of the decent restraints that control their wealthy contemporaries. They are judgment-proof, and persons who would be quick to sue a regular daily newspaper for libel by falsehood or malicious ridicule, and reasonably sure to collect substantial damages, simply don't bother to resent dishonest treatment in their columns.

Elliott was outraged. "That is highly improper," he shouted, "it is unethical and scandalous."

"But" expostulated the TVA official, "all government agencies do this. Why, even your own does it."

Elliott gasped, then turning to Martin, he demanded, "Is that true, Mr. Martin?"

Martin got red, stammered finally, said, "Yes, sir, it is. They are quite right. This is the regular practice. In fact, that's how we got all that nice furniture in your own office."

After he got over the shock, Elliott rushed off a memo to the Justice Department asking for a legal opinion.

The Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Acting Comptroller General Richard Elliott got an unexpected earful during a catechism of TVA officials on extravagant expenditures.

"How does it happen," he began sternly, "that your offices in Washington are equipped with such costly furniture? These overstuffed chairs, for instance, how did you manage to get them?"

The TVA officials looked unbelievably at Elliott and then at Reed F. Martin, his chief clerk.

"Why," one of them replied, "we got them the way every other department does. If we want a particularly nice piece of furniture, we order two ordinary ones. Then the manufacturer, who understands such things, sends us the expensive piece but bills us for the two less expensive ones."

Elliott was outraged. "That is highly improper," he shouted, "it is unethical and scandalous."

"But" expostulated the TVA official, "all government agencies do this. Why, even your own does it."

Elliott gasped, then turning to Martin, he demanded, "Is that true, Mr. Martin?"

Martin got red, stammered finally, said, "Yes, sir, it is. They are quite right. This is the regular practice. In fact, that's how we got all that nice furniture in your own office."

After he got over the shock, Elliott rushed off a memo to the Justice Department asking for a legal opinion.

WPA Cuts

Unless the President can pull a rabbit out of the hat, his $875,000,000 deficiency relief budget is out of luck.

There is powerful sentiment in both branches of Congress to white it. The figure most favored by both Republicans and Democrats is around $600,000,000.

Contention is that this sum is sufficient to maintain WPA rolls at their present level if wage scales are cut. The present WPA average for the country is $53 a month, and Congressional economists argue that this can be slashed to $45 or $40, thus employing the same number of people.

Relief authorities oppose this on the ground that WPA wage levels already are below subsistence minimums.

Debate over the emergency budget is certain to be fierce, and with few exceptions the Republicans will vote as a unit against the $875,000,000. They will have plenty of Democratic support. Some pessimistic are New Deal prospects that some of Roosevelt's advisers urge the Administration to withdraw from the battle and put the relief issue squarely up to Congress.

They argue that up to now the opposition has made political hay by clamoring for economy while the New Deal has taken the rap and fed the jobless. His record, it is pointed out, has been made.

He asked for enough money to alert to the cry "red-baiter" whenever a responsible paper, after careful inquiry, put the finger on some politico-labor group as a branch of the communist organization.

The American daily press occupies a position similar to that of the Democracies beset by communism and Nazi-Fascism. Democracy cannot resort to the weapons of communism and Nazism to defend itself from them and the newspapers must endure attacks by publications and writers unhampered by the bounds of truth and civility which govern ethical journalism.

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

Tax Nerve Gets Sensitive

By HARLEY L. LUTZ
Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

The financial difficulties down in the "City of Brotherly Love" have come to a head in the preparation of the budget for 1939, and the developments there have been such as to furnish some reflections that are of general application.

The first and most significant fact in the situation is that the city faces, for 1939, an accumulated deficit of some $25,000,000. This condition is so general that it should bother no one. Least of all does it warrant reproach in view of the highly respectable example that has been set for us all in a city almost near enough to Philadelphia to be seen by one looking southward with a spyglass from the top of the Ben Franklin statue above the city hall.

The next interesting fact is that the Philadelphia city fathers undertook to do something about this deficit. Since the use of an axe on the appropriations would come under the head of cruel and unusual punishment, and since brutality is not consistent with brotherly love, it was decided to get some more revenue. This was what started the fireworks.

The council passed an ordinance not long ago providing for a tax on all incomes earned or received by residents of the city. The response of the electorate confirmed one theory that has long been held by the parlor variety of taxation and governmental experts, but it exploded another pet theory held by this group.

The theory which received confirmation was the one to the effect that direct taxation is always to be preferred because it creates the state of mind known as "tax consciousness." The income tax ordinance certainly did that, even in advance of any imposition of the tax itself. From the very day on which the ordinance was approved, the city hall was besieged by mobs of tax conscious citizens, and buried under an avalanche of petitions and other documentary

TOWNSEND PLAN

Fellow Citizens: Frequently the philosophers have pointed out that the border which separates those who are mentally disturbed from those who are not is indeed narrow. All of us can recognize a normal member of society from one who constantly becomes irrational in his speech. As Mr. Knox said there must be some way of showing the fallacy of this plan. Also there is a way of showing that this plan will benefit all classes of American citizens. Without creating vindictive hostility, vindictive hostility in the end means war and war defined by Gen. Sherman is hell. Mr. Knox said all anyone has to do is to take a specific case and workout as nearly as possible what would happen if the plan were put into effect. The effect of the plan cannot be measured by any one specific case. But from the standpoint of all business, both large and small, Mr. Knox being a business man ought to know that all business begins and ends with buying and selling begins and ends with money. Money is the life blood of commerce. It is the organic fluid of civilization. Without it mankind would still live, but not in a state of civilization. The function of money is to buy. Every business in the country is first of all a customer, not only for raw material, but for services, supplies, real estate, transportation, communication and thousands of other items. It is this purchasing power in all its manifold forms which makes markets for the things we raise and creates jobs for all of us who follow professions. In doing this it gives us the money with which we in turn do our buying. So, everything in the business world begins and ends with buying. The adoption of the Townsend Plan would mean the employment of millions of men now idle brought about by retiring all workers over 60 years of age.

from gainful employment. The Plan is a business catalyst. By injecting buying power into the business system it would speed up consumption of goods and services. Release pent-up consumer demands. Restore life to all kinds of manufacturing and to all kinds of business. The compulsory spending would

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: As Barney drops Janet off at her home, he asks her about her stock and at something in his tone she senses a new fear.

CHAPTER V
WHEN Janet entered the apartment, she found Aunt Mary and Cynthia together in the living room.

At something conspiratorial in the faces they turned toward her as she went in, her sopping shoes making little squishy noises on the polished floor, she laughed.

"What skulduggery are you two up to now?" she demanded. "Something else I'm not supposed to know? After all, whose wed-ding is this?"

"Not at all," said the old lady briskly. "I didn't really intend to tell you until after the marriage; but I suppose there'll be no peace now until you find out. Since we shan't be needing so much room after you're gone, I'm taking a smaller apartment next month."

Something spookily cheerful in the old lady's voice, and the hint of warning in the swift glance she cast toward her granddaughter arrested Janet's attention.

"Where are you going?" she asked.

"I've been considering the Av-a-lon."

Janet paused in the act of removing her coat to turn incredulously.

"One of those chicken coops?" she cried. "But, Aunt Mary, you couldn't stand being penned up there! And what would you do with all your beautiful things? They'd never fit in with that gin-ger-bread joint."

SHE looked about the charming room, with its high ceiling, its dignified vistas, its deep, rich rugs, its books and gleaming mahogany. "It had occurred to me that you and Lance might find room for some of the larger pieces until you have time to look around for just what you want . . . And in any event," Aunt Mary finished tartly, "there are such institutions as storage vaults."

"You'd better not tempt me too far, Aunt Mary. It will be years before Lance and I could find anything as beautiful as some of your heirlooms. But you might as well put yourself in storage, too, as try to live in one of those two-by-four cells at the Avalon. You've always said you couldn't breathe in small rooms."

Cynthia spoke up sharply. "You might as well know the truth now as ever, Jan," she said. "I told Grams you wouldn't like her keeping it from you."

"Cynthia," old Mary Cantrell snapped, "I forbade you!"

"Nonsense! . . . The bottom has fallen out of Gram's trust company, Jan. They've cut dividends in their deep shadows were strangely bright . . . She got up and strolled quite casually out of the room; and a moment later Janet heard her lazy voice laughing from the telephone in the hall beyond.

"Still against eating dinner alone tonight? . . . Well, you win after all. Yes. I've changed my mind . . . Wasn't it clever of you to know that I would? And how nice of me to allow you to be right for once! . . . Oh, no! I'm not admitting yet that you were right about—the rest of it, too. Well, later, then."

"Aunt Mary," Janet said in a low tone, "what do you suppose she meant? You know—about—" "Probably," said Aunt Mary, "just about as much as Cynthia ever means when she is in one of her exalted moods and feeling a bit dramatic. With her fair for exits and entrances I'm surprised she's never had leanings toward the stage."

Which was as near as Aunt Mary often came to criticizing her granddaughter.

"By the way," Mrs. Cantrell went on, "the mail just came. There's a young mountaineer for you."

Janet went to the table and shuffled through the heap . . . Parcels—more gifts, of course . . . Notes . . . And an appalling number of bills. She had never dreamed there would be so many. The telephone rang, and Cynthia, answering, called from the hall, "Mr. Bryant wants to speak to you, Jan."

Mr. Bryant, an old friend of Janet's father, was the attorney who had managed her modest fortune for her these last years.

"Oh, Mr. Bryant," Janet said, "I was practically on my way to call you. I'm afraid I'll have to have a little extra money this month if I'm to go to the altar an honest woman. I haven't opened my bills yet, but I know they're terrifying."

"Why, I think it can be managed," he said after a barely perceptible pause. "I suppose getting married is an expensive business. And hereafter you can let your husband worry about the bills. That's what husbands are for—ha! ha! . . . What I wanted to ask you is if you can find time to run down to see me tomorrow morning. There are some matters I think we ought to go into at this time."

Janet promised and hung up a little impatiently.

In order to keep the appointment she would have to hurry the dressmaker, skip the hairdresser, and perhaps be unpardonably late for a luncheon given in her honor.

(To Be Continued)

SHE knelt to poke the wood fire with exaggerated care. When she had finished, she continued to stoop there, her slim hands tightly clasped over one bent knee, her graceful dark head bent.

"Rather stupid though," she finished almost as if to herself, "to waste time thinking . . . Maybe I'll actually do something about it this time."

Perhaps it was the flaring up of the fire that made her seem suddenly paler, so that the rouge beneath her high cheekbones stood out in vivid triangles, and her eyes ner means dinner and a comfortable feeling. The sight of either of them arouses the memory of these feelings. If they are broken off suddenly there is a certain shock to the child's feeling and thinking, and he cannot behave as usual. So while change is good, familiarity is basic to the formation of associations and habits.

The two principles must be respected.

First set the habits, then, gradually, shift the situation so as to vary the associations while holding firmly to the habit.

Oil Worker Loses Leg In Huntington Beach Accident

CHARLES C. BEASLEY BATTLES FOR LIFE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 13.—Charles C. Beasley, 47 years of age, of Garden Grove, is near death in St. Joseph hospital following an accident which occurred Thursday afternoon when one of his legs was torn from his body at the hip in the local oil field.

Workmen were bailing on an Associated Oil company's well. Beasley, the head well puller, walked from the derrick platform to the belt house and became entangled in a sand reel chain. Before other workmen were aware of the accident and could stop the machinery, Beasley's leg was mangled and torn from the body. He suffered great loss of blood.

He was rushed in the Dixon ambulance to the St. Joseph hospital where Dr. B. W. Hardy operated on the victim. Beasley had worked for the company for 15 years and has always been listed among the efficient employees.

DRIVER IS JAILED
Kenneth Duncan, Los Angeles, was jailed here yesterday by City Judge J. G. Mitchell on a drunk driving charge and must serve 75 days or pay out a $150 fine. Alexander Cardiel jr., Tustin, was given a work order so that he may work out a $25 fine assessed by Judge Mitchell. Carl Greenwood, Highland, and William Sidenfaden, Los Angeles, were fined $6 and $8, respectively, for speeding. All pleaded guilty.

JURY FINDS HARRIS GUILTY OF STEALING

Assistant District Attorney Joel Ogle and Deputy John Colwell won a four-day court battle when a jury in Superior Judge Franklin G. West's court late yesterday found Theo. J. Harris guilty of grand theft.

Harris allegedly had sold a worthless oil lease in Chavez county, New Mexico, to Edwin Maier, West Orange rancher for $350.

At an earlier trial, the jury had disagreed on Harris' case, six to six. The jury yesterday was out from 3:50 to 4:45 before returning its verdict. Defense Counsel Ralph Paonessa, of Los Angeles, immediately filed oral motion for a new trial. Pronouncement of judgment was set for January 17.

SLIPPERY SUSPECT ESCAPES
POLICE AS HOME IS CIRCLED

John Helm, 22, wanted by Lieutenant P. W. Kerr of the Lynwood police, on a charge of burglary, is something of a "speed merchant," according to Santa Ana and Ontario police today.

According to the officers, he not only streaked out of the rear door of a second hand store in Ontario like a bolt of lightning when police there sought to question him, but he left his Santa Ana home like War Admiral leaves the barrier, when Santa Ana police sought to question him last evening.

Sale in Ontario

According to Lieutenant Kerr, Helm assertedly stole several saddles in Lynwood and, on Wednesday, tried to sell them in Ontario. Ontario police, not knowing Helm was sought, made no attempt to arrest him when he left the second hand store.

Then Detective Lieutenant Charles W. Wolford of Santa Ana was informed Lynwood officials wanted him. Officers Wolford and Richard M. Bradley went to Helm's home, 420 Harwood place, last evening.

"We were told by Helm's mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert Moran, that Helm had had a family quarrel and left with all of his clothes Wednesday night," Officer Wolford said. "We then returned to police headquarters and were informed by others that Helm was still in the city."

He's Still Going

With Officer Bradley and Officers C. V. Adams and Burnett Lane, Officer Wolford dashed back to the Harwood place address. They surrounded the place. Helm was not at home. Two officers were informed he appeared a few moments before with another man in an automobile, dashed into the house, grabbed a suitcase, ran out and hurried away. His companion nearly tore down a hedge in backing the automobile from the place. Mrs. Horan assertedly then admitted to police that she had told Helm the police were after him. As far as police know, Helm is still going.

MRS. E. S. HERMON CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Effie Shinn Hermon, of Santa Ana Rt. 1 a resident of this district for the past 16 years, passed away at Santa Ana Valley hospital yesterday following an extended illness. She was a native of Broken Bow, Neb.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Brown and Wagner funeral directors.

Survivors are the husband, J. K. Hermon; one son, Frederick Hermon, Santa Ana; one brother, Charles M. Shinn, Wichita Falls, Texas; two sisters, Irma L. Thun, Cottage Grove, Ore., and Minnie L. Grabow, San Francisco.

"Waw! Waw!" Says Young Kyle As He Looks Over Field

Marshall Tram Kyle, age one day, today viewed the world and tried to make up his mind whether to be an insurance broker or an aviator.

Marshall, who was born yesterday at Sargeant's maternity hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Grant L. Kyle, of 920 West Pine street,

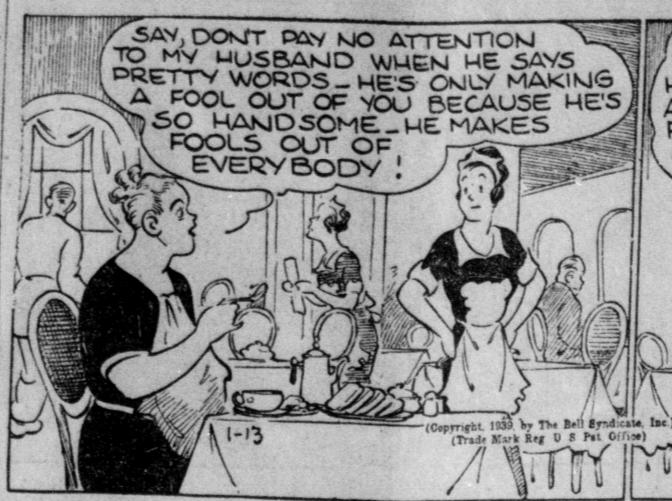

"I want to be just like Daddy," Marshall said, "and while he is in the insurance business, he spends much time flying, and I may go into the aviation business. Besides, I understand there's a good factory site slinking around hereabouts—Wow! Wow!"

Police News

A burglar who made two trips to the home of Mrs. Rose Hartman, Route 1, Box 151, Buena Park, stole 75 Rhode Island red chickens, valued at $100, from the Hartman chicken house, according to reports to sheriff's officers yesterday. Shoe prints in a neighboring orange grove were followed by the officers for three-quarters of a mile and led to a pavement where the chickens apparently had been loaded into an automobile.

Yesterday, Justice Howard C. Cameron sent Cano to jail for 30 days on a charge Cano violated his probation order. Cano, arrested by Los Angeles police, was returned to Orange county by Deputy Sheriff Jesse Buckles. At the time of Cano's prosecution, Grego alleged Cano, a Los Angeles friend and Cano's sister not only struck him but also kidnapped him from his home. Cano declared the offense against Grego was committed after Grego became familiar with Cano's sister who is Grego's ex-daughter-in-law.

Arrested by Officer V. G. Wolfe of Orange, Dave Brooks, 22, 325 South Lemon, Anaheim, yesterday was convicted of reckless driving and sent to county jail for 50 days. He has the privilege of paying a $100 fine in lieu of the terms. Brooks assertedly was arrested after he was seen attempting to siphon gasoline from a parked car, escaped and ran his own car into an orange tree. Clifford Nunley, 25, Orange, and Clyde Caples, 29, Santa Ana, Brooks' companions, must serve 12½ days for petty theft in connection with the same case.

On a warrant charging he used faulty brakes and drove without a driver's license, Fred Ruiz, 37, of Irwindale, was arrested by Highway Patrol Officer Horace Inge and jailed here last night. He is wanted in Orange township.

A 20-year old transient boy who gave his name as "Mr. Jones," was ordered away from the Stanton district last night after a series of complaints were entered against him with sheriff's officers. Stanton residents complained he begged for meals for several days and on Wednesday, tried to pick a Stanton boy's pockets. The officers located the youth and his brother "at home" in a box car. He agreed to leave the county to-day.

CHILD IS RESCUED

Tiny Barbara Lee Hayworth of Long Beach, who became lost here yesterday, narrowly escaped injury or death when she wandered about the street near the Safeway store at 2323 North Main, according to witnesses. J. E. Hudleston, Anaheim postal carrier, of 1119½ North Broadway, Anaheim reported seeing the child in the street at 6 p. m. and called police. Mrs. Hayworth returned to the store on a hunt for her daughter and both went home.
